The organizers of the III World Congress of Transdisciplinary Virtual, the Centre International de Recherches et Études Transdisciplinaires (CIRET-FRANCE), the National School of Anthropology and History (ENAH/INAH-MEXICO), the UNESCO Transdisciplinary Chair on "Human Development and Culture of Peace", University of Florence (UTC-ITALY), the Transdisciplinary Education Centre (CETRANS-BRAZIL) accomplish this world event of great importance to humanity which will take place from October 30, 2020 until September 17, 2021.

This Virtual Congress is part of the III World Congress Face-to-Face Transdisciplinarity which will be held November 2-6, 2021 in Mexico City with presentations, round tables, symposiums, cultural and artistic activities.

The aims of the III World Congress of Transdisciplinarity are to bring together the largest possible number of participants from various national and international institutions, to address the latest theoretical and practical developments in transdisciplinarity and to propose new approaches, and experiences to address the extraordinary challenges of the 21st century which are: the terrestrial civilization and the sustainable development, planetary education, transhumanism, health, gender equality, poverty, the destruction of biological diversity, climate change (See UN 2030 Agenda of the 17 Sustainable Development Goals) and other problems as the pandemic of the Covid 19.

In agreement with the UNESCO Transdisciplinary Chair (UTC Italy) and the Italian Ministry of Education (DG for School Levels and System Evaluation), the Italian Schools Members of UNESCO ASPnet will participate in the Symposium "Transdisciplinary education for the Citizens of the Earth. Learn from pandemic", organized in the first Italian week titled "Transdisciplinary Vision. Citizens of Earth. Human frailty and post-pandemic species community".

In this international contest, the four schools will represent the contribution of the Italian education to the transdisciplinary approach and methodology through projects and activities.
